

Charlotte Planning Commission

During the past few months I have been to several Planning Commission meetings, and during these meetings I thought it was agreed upon that a 8' vinyl fence was going to be built around the property

Now Mr. Roberts wants to put up a wooden fence, which in his site plans he had vinyl, yes it probably does cost more but you would think he would of known this or had a rough estimate at the time the drawings were done. There will be a cost of maintaining a wooden fence such as staining or painting and eventually power washing. Who will be responsible for the side of the residence?

I am totally against a wooden fence.

Thank you
